

About Internet Video Channel

With offices in San Antonio, Texas and the Denver/Vail, Colorado, the Internet Video Channel team has produced thousands of presentations over the past 15 years. Our company is divided into two offices; Denver/Vail focuses on the creative portion of the business, while San Antonio handles all technical issues.

Our Denver/Vail office is home to a complete broadcast digital production facility with three serial digital non-linear suites and multiple digital and analog tape formats. By the way, we didn't forget the sound, as we have the only Steinberg Nuendo Audio Workstation audio sweetening facility in the Rockies. Our multimedia and graphics suite have the latest tools for DVD authoring, CD Rom, and 3D/2D animation. We offer multiple digital video encoding stations to deliver your video to all digital distribution formats.

Our San Antonio facility manages the technical aspects of our business. This includes managing our servers, development of all software, security, The San Antonio office typically handles all webcast monitoring, technical support and other issues relating to streaming media.

Stream your event to everybody, everywhere

Let us put your event live on the Internet. Internet Video Channel (IVC) will take care of everything, ranging from full video production, to simply taking the audio feed from the microphone and putting that online.

Our professional staff will take care of as much production work as you would like.

Save Travel Expenses

Providing a live webcast of your event will easily pay for itself many times over in travel expenses and, more importantly, lost productivity. Now people can participate in the event from the comfort of their own desk, By utilizing streaming media technology, there is no lost travel time, travel expenses

Increase Participation

By webcasting your event, Everybody interested can participate...without even leaving their desk!!! People who could not normally afford to travel to the event, or those not budgeted for, can now stay informed with the information you are presenting. We can work with you to make the webcast private, public, or Pay Per View. The choice is yours.

How It Works

We work with you to capture your event live. This can include audio, video, screen grabs, or any combination. We then convert this information to a data stream and send it to our dedicated webcasting servers that sit on the backbone of the Internet. These servers are capable of reaching tens of thousands of simultaneous viewers.

We provide you with a link to the webcast that can be sent to your viewers and placed on your website, Everybody that clicks on the link will view the a smooth stream from our high speed servers, without ever knowing they have left your site.

We can even provide you with usage reports as well as a registration page so that you know who watched the stream.

We can also create a custom video player to help you push more information to your audience.

Services Offered
